

Response to Headhunting Inquiry

Dear [Recruiter's Name],

Thank you for reaching out to me regarding potential relocation opportunities. I appreciate your consideration and the details you shared about the position at [Company Name].

As I am currently exploring new avenues for professional growth, I am indeed open to discussing relocation options that align with my career goals and personal circumstances.

Could we schedule a time to connect and delve deeper into this opportunity? I am particularly interested in understanding more about the role, the company culture, and the relocation support you might offer.

Thank you once again for your inquiry. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Best regards,
