Dear Editorial Team,

Thank you for your recent communication regarding the editorial decision on my submission titled "[Insert Submission Title]." I appreciate the time and effort you dedicated to reviewing my work.

While I am naturally disappointed that my paper was not accepted for publication, I respect the decision made by the editorial team. I value the feedback provided and will take it into consideration as I continue to refine my research.

Thank you once again for your consideration. I look forward to the possibility of submitting future work to [Insert Publication Name].

Sincerely,
