Dear [Recipient's Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to formally request your assistance as a character reference in my upcoming child custody court hearing scheduled for [date of hearing]. I believe your perspective on my relationship with my child and my parenting capabilities will be invaluable in demonstrating my commitment to their well-being.

As you may know, the court is examining various aspects of my parenting and the environment I provide for my child. Your insights regarding our interactions, my parenting style, and the positive impact I have in my child's life would greatly support my case.

If you are willing to assist, I would deeply appreciate it if you could write a letter to the court outlining your views. The deadline for submitting this letter is [submission deadline]. I am happy to provide guidance on specific points to cover or any additional information that may assist you in this process.

Thank you for considering my request. Your support means a great deal to me and my family.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
