

Feedback on Early Manuscript Access Compensation Process

Dear [Recipient's Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to provide feedback regarding the early manuscript access compensation process that was recently implemented.

Firstly, I would like to commend the initiative to enable access to early manuscripts, as it fosters collaboration and enhances the quality of our work. However, I have encountered some challenges during the compensation process that I believe could be addressed.

- Clarity of Guidelines: The guidelines provided for the compensation process were somewhat vague. A more detailed outline would help in better understanding the requirements.
- Timeliness of Compensation: The timeline for processing compensation has been longer than anticipated. Streamlining this process would be greatly appreciated.
- Access to Resources: Some resources mentioned during the access phase were either limited or not available. Ensuring these resources are consistently accessible would improve the experience.

Thank you for considering my feedback. I believe that addressing these issues will enhance the overall effectiveness of the early manuscript access program.

Warm regards,
