Dear [Client's Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. As your financial advisor, I have been reviewing your investment portfolio and would like to discuss the importance of portfolio diversification.

Diversification is a key strategy in risk management. By spreading your investments across various asset classes--such as stocks, bonds, real estate, and commodities--you can reduce the impact of volatility and improve the overall performance of your portfolio.

Current Portfolio Overview

- Stocks: [Current %]
- Bonds: [Current %]
- Cash: [Current %]
- Other Investments: [Current %]

Recommended Diversification Strategy

I recommend adjusting your allocation to achieve a more balanced approach:

- Stocks: [Recommended %]
- Bonds: [Recommended %]
- Real Estate: [Recommended %]
- Commodities: [Recommended %]

This approach can help mitigate risks while positioning you for potential growth in various market conditions.

Please feel free to reach out to discuss this recommendation further or to schedule a meeting. I am here to help you achieve your financial goals.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
