Dear [Recipient's Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to suggest the inclusion of physical therapy services in our health care benefits package. As you may know, physical therapy can play a significant role in rehabilitation, pain management, and overall health improvement.

Research shows that access to physical therapy can reduce the need for more invasive treatments and contribute to better health outcomes for employees. By adding these services, we could demonstrate our commitment to employee well-being and potentially lower healthcare costs for both employees and the organization.

I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss this suggestion further and explore the potential benefits of integrating physical therapy into our health care offerings.

Thank you for considering my suggestion. I look forward to your positive response.

Sincerely,
