Dear [Agent's Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I wanted to follow up regarding my manuscript, [Title of Your Work], which I submitted on [Submission Date]. I am very grateful for your consideration and wanted to express my continued interest in working together.

Since my last correspondence, I have received some positive feedback from a few early readers, and I believe the story has only grown stronger. I would be thrilled to hear any updates you might have regarding my submission.

Thank you once again for your time and consideration. I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
