To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to you on behalf of [Your Company], a startup company focused on [briefly describe your company and its mission]. As we embark on our journey to innovate and contribute to the economy, we kindly request your consideration for tax incentives that could significantly impact our growth and sustainability.

Starting a new business comes with numerous challenges, particularly in securing the necessary funding to expand operations and hire talented individuals. Access to favorable tax treatments can stimulate job creation and enhance our ability to invest in research and development.

Therefore, we urge you to consider implementing tax considerations for startups such as:

- Increased deductions for initial operating expenses
- Tax credits for hiring employees from underserved communities
- Deferral of tax liabilities for a certain period

We believe that such measures will not only benefit emerging companies like ours but will also lead to overall economic growth and job creation.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. We look forward to your positive response and stand ready to discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
