Dear [Author(s)],

We appreciate your submission of the manuscript titled "[Insert Title]" to [Journal Name]. After careful consideration, we regret to inform you that we cannot accept your paper for publication at this time.

One of the significant concerns raised during the review process was the inadequate literature review presented in your paper. It is essential for a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter to include relevant and recent studies that contextualize your research. The absence of a robust literature review detracts from the overall credibility and contribution of your work.

We encourage you to revisit the literature surrounding your topic, expanding upon the key studies that have shaped current understanding. A thorough literature review will not only strengthen your analysis but also enhance the manuscript's value to the readership.

Thank you for considering [Journal Name] as a venue for your research. We wish you success with your future submissions.

Sincerely,
