I hope this message finds you well! I have some exciting news to share--I'm getting married!

As I start to plan this special day, I can't imagine doing it without you by my side. That's why I would be thrilled if you would accept my invitation to be my bridesmaid.

Your support means the world to me, and having you as a part of this journey would make it even more memorable.

Let's catch up soon to discuss the details and celebrate together!

With all my love,
