

Dear [Friend's Name],

I hope this message finds you well! I've been thinking about how much fun we've had working together in the past, and I would love to explore the idea of collaborating on a creative project.

I've been inspired by [briefly describe an idea, theme, or project] and I think your expertise in [mention their skills or interests] would really complement my vision.

Are you free to meet up soon? It would be great to brainstorm and see what we can come up with together. Let me know your availability!

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Best,

[Your Name]
