Dear [Recipient Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to provide clarification regarding the recently discussed graduated tax brackets and how they pertain to our current business tax strategy.

As you are aware, our organization is subject to a graduated tax system which implicates varying tax rates based on income levels. Below, I have outlined the specific brackets and their respective rates, as well as the strategic approach we are considering for optimal tax efficiencies:

- Income up to $[X]: Tax Rate - [Y]%
- Income between $[X1] and $[X2]: Tax Rate - [Y1]%
- Income above $[X2]: Tax Rate - [Y2]%

To maximize our tax liability management, we aim to strategically adjust our income streams within these brackets. This could involve timing certain revenues or expenses to remain within lower taxed ranges.

I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss this strategy further and explore the implications for our business operations. Please let me know your available times for a meeting.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
