Dear [Applicant's Name],

Thank you for your application for funding submitted on [Submission Date]. We appreciate the effort and time you invested in preparing your proposal.

After careful consideration, we regret to inform you that we are unable to provide funding for your project at this time. While we recognize the importance of your initiative, we are limited in our available resources and had to make difficult decisions based on our current funding priorities.

We encourage you to consider applying in the future as our funding focus may change. Thank you again for your interest in our organization, and we wish you the best of luck with your project.

Sincerely,
