Dear [Recipient's Name],

I hope this letter finds you in good spirits. I am writing to explain the bequest I have made in my will and the reasons I chose to include you in this significant aspect of my estate planning.

As you may know, a bequest is a gift made through a will, and it reflects not only my affection for you but also my desire to support causes and individuals that are important to me. I have chosen to leave you a bequest of [insert amount or item], which I believe will assist you in [mention purpose, e.g., pursuing a dream, supporting education, etc.].

This decision stems from our relationship, and I want to ensure that you are aware of this provision so that it may be of benefit to you in the future. My hope is that this bequest brings you joy and serves as a reminder of the bond we share.

If you have any questions or wish to discuss this further, please feel free to reach out. I want to ensure that everything is clear and understood.

Thank you for being an important part of my life.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
