

To Our Favorite Fun-Lover!

Dear [Team Member's Name],

As you prepare to trade in your briefcase for a beach chair, we can't help but feel a mix of joy and jealousy. While you trot off into a world of endless vacations and fresh margaritas, we'll be left here wrestling with spreadsheets and office politics.

Who will now keep us entertained with your dad jokes and those delightful dance moves at the holiday parties? Our coffee breaks will never be the same without you reenacting the latest cat video from the internet!

Remember, retirement means you can finally enjoy all those hobbies you've been ignoring while pretending to work. That's right, the 5,000-piece puzzle you've been hoarding is finally seeing the light of day!

As you venture into this new chapter, just remember: your office chair is safe, and there's always a spot reserved for you in our hearts (and at the karaoke machine).

We'll miss you terribly but can't wait to hear about your exciting adventures on the golf course and in the great outdoors. Don't forget to send postcards--or at least hilarious memes!

Cheers to you, [Team Member's Name]! Enjoy every moment and remember: it's not retirement, it's a permanent vacation!

Sincerely,
Your Ever-Jealous Team