

Dear [Coworker's Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I wanted to take a moment to express my excitement for you as you embark on your new job pursuit. This is such a wonderful opportunity, and I have no doubt that you will excel.

Your dedication and skills have always impressed me, and I believe this new path is a perfect match for your talents. Don't forget to remind yourself of all the amazing things you bring to the table during your interviews.

Remember, every step you take is a step towards your goals. I'm confident you will tackle any challenges that come your way with the same determination you show every day at work.

If you need any support, whether it's preparing for interviews or just someone to chat with, know that I'm here for you. Wishing you all the best in this exciting journey!

Warm regards,
[Your Name]
